Cyberport Community Scooped 31 Awards at Hong Kong ICT Awards 2022

Hong Kong, 16 November 2022 - The Cyberport community shone again at this year's Hong Kong ICT Awards 2022, with 27 start-ups clinching 31 awards across seven award categories, including three Grand Awards and nine Gold Awards. Among the winning start-ups, Dai3mimi Health-Tech, which developed a material conduction system with innovative acoustic technology, achieved the "Smart Living Grand Award"; Farmacy HK, which specialises in urban farming technology, won the "ICT Startup Grand Award"; and AerospaceTS, developer of interactive flight simulation training, received the "Digital Entertainment Grand Award".

Eric Chan, Chief Public Mission Officer of Cyberport, said, "The Cyberport start-up community performed well at this prominent annual industry event. The conferral of 31 awards, including three Grand Awards and nine Gold Awards, on our start-ups manifests industry recognition of the innovative prowess of the Cyberport community. As Hong Kong's digital technology flagship and entrepreneurship incubator, Cyberport is pleased to see our start-ups continually put forth innovative solutions of market value and social impact in application clusters of FinTech, Smart Living, and Digital Entertainment, emerging as a major driving force behind digital transformation in society. Cyberport will continue its efforts to cultivate innovative talents, support digital technology start-ups, and build a conducive entrepreneurial ecosystem to facilitate advancement of innovation and technology in our country and Hong Kong."

As Hong Kong's FinTech hub, Cyberport houses the largest FinTech community in the city. Cyberport start-ups bagged six awards in the "FinTech Award" category, including one Gold Award, two Silver Awards, and one Bronze Award. PaySmart Capital received the "FinTech (Regulatory Technology and Risk Management) Gold Award" for their "Liquid Corporate Digital Verifiable Credentials" project, which provides authentic and reliable business proofs to corporates across the globe under the LIQUID blockchain architecture, significantly optimising account opening processes, as well as improving efficiency of business loan applications and annual credit reviews. Additionally, YAS Digital brought home the "FinTech (Banking, Insurance, and Capital Markets) Silver Award" for their YAS Microinsurance service, while MOJODOMO earned the "FinTech (Emerging Solutions) Silver Award" for their e-voucher redemption platform.

The Cyberport community brings together over 750 companies that specialise in developing solutions related to Smart Living and Smart City. Cyberport start-ups performed exceptionally in the "Smart Living Award", "Smart Mobility Award", "Smart People Award", and “Smart Business Award” categories, winning a total of 14 awards, including one Grand Award, four Gold Awards, three Silver Awards, and two Bronze Awards. Dai3mimi Health-Tech received the “Smart Living Grand Award” and the “Smart Living (Smart Healthcare) Gold Award”. The Dai3mimi product, using its patented Rhythm Vibration Mechanism sound module, not only restores the hearing ability of the elderly but also helps them relieve symptoms such as tinnitus, depression, and dementia. The technology developed by Maphive Technology facilitates more efficient creation and showcasing of the 3D Indoor Map, winning the “Smart Mobility (Smart Tourism) Gold Award”. With integration of the Lands Department’s 3D Pedestrian Network, the technology allows the public to enjoy a seamless indoor-outdoor wayfinding and navigation experience, supporting a broader range of smart mobility applications. Trefle & Co was the recipient of the “Smart People (Smart Education and Learning) Gold Award” for its “Smart Industrial Training System”, a pioneering VR system that provides various professional training content by immersive experiences. Meanwhile, Bistrochat Software was awarded the “Smart Living (Smart Lifestyle) Gold Award” for its development of the All-In-One Table Management System, which enables consolidation of restaurant bookings from different channels. Klook and Timable both received Silver Awards in the “Smart Mobility Award” category. Meanwhile a Silver Award and a Bronze Award in the “Smart Business Award” category also went to the Cyberport community.

Cyberport also plays the role of a prominent advocator in the digital entertainment industry, actively promoting development of the industry. Cyberport start-ups claimed six awards in the “Digital Entertainment Award” category, including one Grand Award, two Gold Awards and one Silver Award. AerospaceTS emerged as the winner of both the “Digital Entertainment Grand Award” and the “Digital Entertainment (Interaction Design) Gold Award” for its 1:1 Airliner Cockpit Interactive Touchscreen Entertainment Simulator/Trainer, which provides simulated flight training and entertainment experience. The product has been recognised with an official licence from Airbus SAS. Feeling Game Company, a commercial game developer, earned the “Digital Entertainment (Entertainment and eSports Software) Gold Award” for their game “Every Hero”. Additionally, Trefle & Co. received the “Digital Entertainment (Entertainment and eSports Software) Silver Award”.

Cyberport start-ups also took home five awards in the “ICT Startup Award” category, including one Grand Award, two Gold Awards, and one Silver Award. Farmacy HK was granted both the “ICT Startup Grand Award” and the “ICT Startup (Social Impact) Gold Award”. They launched Smart Mobile Farms, equipped with full remote-control capabilities powered by cloud technology and big data, to supply locally grown hydroponic vegetables, helping to reduce carbon emissions and for companies to achieve their ESG goals. Travis Group won the “ICT Startup (Software and Apps) Gold Award” for its omnichannel social commerce platform SleekFlow, which assists corporates in handling customer enquiries from various channels on one single platform. Also, FILIX MEDTECH captured the “ICT Startup (Social Impact) Silver Award” for its Traditional Chinese Medicine product tracing and verification platform.

The Hong Kong ICT Awards is a signature industry event steered by the Office of the Government Chief Informational Officer (OGCIO), and organised by Hong Kong information and communications technology (ICT) Industry associations and professional bodies to recognise and promote ICT developments and applications, as well as encourage the industry to adopt more creative solutions to fulfill corporations' operational needs and create social impact.
